

A vertical strip of a circuit board, showing various components and traces. It includes a green circular component, several grey circular components, and a red component at the bottom. The board has a blue background with white and green traces.

---